Foreword

An essential mission of the Center of Military History is to write the official history of the United States Army. This history not only provides a comprehensive account of Army activities in peace and war, but also serves as an important tool in the ongoing training of officers and noncommissioned officers in the profession of arms. This brochure provides a complete listing of all those works now in print that have thus far been published in pursuit of this mission. U.S. Army personnel may requisition any of these publications through their publications control officer (see the “How To Order” information on pages 1-2). Most of the titles listed are also available for purchase by the general public from the Government Printing Office (GPO); a GPO order form is located at the end of the brochure.

Featured in this edition of the Center’s Publications brochure are works relating to the role of the U.S. Army in both World War II and the Korean War, with many of the official operational volumes available in paperback editions for the first time. Military trainers will note that many of the detailed operational and tactical maps have been packaged separately. The Center’s series of World War II campaign brochures provides many examples of the operational level of war. Other works of note include battlefield staff ride guides, several types of Army Art publications, first-hand accounts by senior Army logisticians, and several specialized branch histories.

I urge unit commanders and individual officers and noncommissioned officers to take full advantage of these products. If these works are useful to Army trainers and educators because of their attention to detail and scope, they are also directly relevant to many of the concerns of today’s military planners. Although history cannot predict the future, a knowledge of the past, of successes as well as mistakes, can increase our understanding of the present and our appreciation of the many factors that can ultimately determine the future.

How To Order Center of Military History (CMH) Publications

This brochure is organized chronologically (moving back in time from the recent past to the Revolution), with separate sections on the Army Lineage Series and a general miscellaneous category. To aid the user to find material, the brochure ends with an appendix on CMH publication (CMH Pub) numbers and titles (which brings titles together by major CMH series) and an index of author names.

Army Requisitions:

All of the publications in this brochure are available to Army publication account holders. Army policy provides accounts to any active Army units that are detachment size and larger and staff sections from division level to Headquarters, Department of the Army (HQDA); United States Army Reserve units that are company size and larger and staff sections from division level to HQDA; Army National Guard units that are company size and larger and staff sections from division level to state adjutants general. Units not described above may be authorized accounts by submitting their requests through command channels to the Commander, U.S. Army Publications Distribution Center-Baltimore (USAPDC-B), 2800 Eastern Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21220-2896.

As training literature, CMH publications are available for official educational, training, and commemorative purposes within the Army without reimbursement. In turn, however, CMH titles are not in the commonly known DA 12 series. Account holders have to requisition titles directly from the Baltimore Publications Distribution Center.

CMH publications may be obtained by using the following electronic/telephonic requisitioning methods:

- a. STARPUBS DDN Interface System (SDIS). If your information management officer is not familiar with the system, contact Ms. Betty Bundy at the U.S. Army Publications and Printing Command at DSN 221-6238 or commercial (703) 325-6238 for a copy of the software and technical assistance in converting to electronic ordering.

b. World Wide Web. Connect to the home page at <http://www-usappc.hoffman.army.mil>. Once connected to the home page, publication account holders will find a data entry screen that is an electronic version of the DA Form 4569 to enter their publications request. All requisitions will be processed and account holders who provide a valid e-mail address will receive the status of their order through normal publications channels.

c. USAPPC Bulletin Board Service (BBS). Publication account holders may order using the BBS by calling DSN 221-6736/6737 or commercial (703) 325-6736/6737.

d. Telephone Ordering Publications System (TOPS). Use TOPS to make emergency publications requisitions, to obtain information about changes to TOPS, or to get customer assistance. TOPS is a voice interactive, menu driven, and is accessed by using a touchtone telephone and dialing DSN 221-9224 or commercial (703)325-9224.

Prior coordination is required through CMH to requisition more than ten (10) copies of any one title.

Other Military Services:

Other military services requiring CMH publications for official use can obtain copies by forwarding a request directly to the USAPDC-B on agency letterhead. Unless prior arrangements have been made with CMH, the number requested cannot exceed 10 copies of any one title.

Public Sale:

Most of the titles in the following list are also available from the Government Printing Office. For research purposes, titles are available from most of the federal depository libraries. For those interested in purchasing any of these publications, we have included the GPO stock number (S/N), the current GPO price, and a GPO Order Form. Prices are subject to change, and between reprintings some titles may be temporarily unavailable. Those items marked with an asterisk are not for sale by GPO and are available only to Army publication account holders from the USAPDC-B.

Any questions about this brochure or requests to requisition more than 10 copies of any one title should be addressed to the Office of Production Services (DAMH-ZBP), 1099 14th Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20005-3402; Fax 202-761-5390).

German Studies

The following CMH historical studies were previously published as DA Pamphlets. Except as noted, these studies were prepared by senior German commanders based on their personal experience. All are paperback.

MILITARY IMPROVISATIONS DURING THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN (DA Pam 20-201, 1951; CMH ed. 1986; 110 pp.). CMH Pub 104-1, GPO S/N 008-029-00142-0, $3.50.

The massive effort against the Soviet Union forced the German Army and Luftwaffe into tactical and logistical improvisations that would become permanent features of the war in the East.

COMBAT IN RUSSIAN FORESTS AND SWAMPS (DA Pam 20-231, 1951; CMH ed. 1986; 39 pp.). CMH Pub 104-2, GPO S/N 008-029-00143-8, $1.75.

The numerous dense woodlands and swamps that covered the western portions of European Russia presented severe problems for the German invaders and occupation forces.

NIGHT COMBAT (DA Pam 20-236, 1953; CMH ed. 1986; 49 pp.). CMH Pub 104-3, GPO S/N 008-029-00146-2, $2.25.

Combat operations and movements at night became increasingly prevalent as the war in the East dragged on. Initially untrained for such combat, the German Army developed night combat tactics and techniques out of necessity.

TERRAIN FACTORS IN THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN (DA Pam 200-290, 1951; CMH ed. 1986; 60 pp.). CMH Pub 104-5, GPO S/N 008-029-00144-6, $2.25.

The numerous rivers, swamps, and forests and the endless steppe lands of the Soviet Union confronted the Germans with extensive tactical and logistical problems unanticipated by planners and largely left unsolved during the campaign.

EFFECTS OF CLIMATE ON COMBAT IN EUROPEAN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-291, 1952; CMH ed. 1986; 80 pp.). CMH Pub 104-6, GPO S/N 008-029-00145-4, $3.00.

Climatic conditions of European Russia varied from bitterly cold, long winters to dry, hot summers, interrupted by wet, rainy springs and falls that virtually halted all ground movement. The German Army was ill prepared or ill equipped for Russian winters and paid a huge price for its negligence.

GERMAN DEFENSE TACTICS AGAINST RUSSIAN BREAK-THROUGHS (DA Pam 20-233, 1951; CMH ed. 1988; 80 pp.). CMH Pub 104-14, GPO S/N 008-029-00183-7, $7.00.

The Germans had to develop tactics to counter Soviet breakthrough operations. The Germans, especially in the war's early years, were often successful in sealing off and destroying Soviet penetrations.

OPERATIONS OF ENCIRCLED FORCES: GERMAN EXPERIENCES IN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-234, 1952; CMH ed. 1988; 74 pp.). CMH Pub 104-15, GPO S/N 008-029-00184-5, $3.25.

The Soviet-German war was marked by numerous encirclements, first of Soviet units and, as the war continued, of German units as large as entire armies, such as the 6th Army at Stalingrad. Fighting encircled became a frequent occurrence for German commanders, and their experiences at Klin, Cherkassy, and Kamenets-Podolskiy are related here as well as an analysis of the critical role of air support when fighting encircled.

THE SOVIET PARTISAN MOVEMENT, 1941-1944 (DA Pam 20-244, 1956; CMH ed. 1989; 217 pp.). CMH Pub 104-19, GPO S/N 008-029-00193-4, $12.00.

The great German offensive of the summer of 1941 left large portions of the western Soviet Union in German hands. Scattered partisan bands soon began operations against the German occupiers, quickly growing into a major military force. Prepared by Edgar M. Howell, this study analyzes the Soviet use of partisans both for political purposes and in strategic operations.

SMALL UNIT ACTIONS DURING THE GERMAN CAMPAIGN IN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-269, 1953; CMH ed. 1987; 289 pp.). CMH Pub 104-22, GPO S/N 008-029-00168-3, $11.00.

Case studies of German infantry, armor, and engineer units from company to battalion level in offensive and defensive actions that also include small unit operations in the Arctic, forests, river crossings, and antipartisan warfare.

THE GERMAN NORTHERN THEATER OF OPERATIONS, 1940-1945 (DA Pam 20-271, 1959; CMH ed. 1989; 342 pp.). CMH Pub 104-23, 008-029-00194-2, $12.00.

Earl Ziemke's two-part study, specifically focusing on operations, tactics, terrain, and weather in sub-Arctic areas, surveys German operations in Norway and Denmark in 1940 and in Finland from 1941 through 1944.

WARFARE IN THE FAR NORTH (DA Pam 20-292, 1951; CMH ed. 1987; 24 pp.). CMH Pub 104-24, GPO S/N 008-029-00156-0, $1.50.

From June 1941 through September 1944, German forces fought the Soviets in the Arctic and sub-Arctic as allies of the Finns. This work compares German, Finnish, and Soviet tactics, equipment, and organization and discusses the unique terrain features.
